JOURNAL OF RANGPUR MEDICAL COLLEGE

THE OFFICIAL ORGAN OF RANGPUR MEDICAL COLLEGE

Information for Authors/Contributors

Journal of Rangpur Medical College (JRMC) is the official organ of the Rangpur Medical College, Bangladesh and published twice in a year in the months of March and September. It is recognized by the Bangladesh Medical and Dental Council (BM&DC). The Journal publishes original articles, review articles, case reports and short communications related to various branches of medical sciences.

Organization of Manuscripts: The manuscript should be prepared using MS-Word. Three hard copies and a CD should be provided labeled clearly with the authors' names, file name, and software program. The manuscript (date, title page, abstract, text, references) should be submitted as one document. All parts of the manuscript should be type written, double-spaced, with margins of at least one inch (2.5 cm) on all sides. Manuscript pages should be numbered consecutively throughout the paper at the bottom right corner of the page. The title page should include full names of authors, academic and/or other professional affiliations, the complete mailing address and e-mail address of the author to whom proofs and correspondence should be sent. Original articles are usually upto 3000 words and review articles 4500 words long, with least number of illustrations and/or tables. Short communications/case reports are upto 1500 words long, with a few tables or illustrations and no more than ten references. Photographs/ photomicrografs/ diagrams should be referred as figures. Generic name of the drug (if any) should be used. Most editorials are solicited, but we are delighted to consider unsolicited editorials of usually upto 1000 to 1500 words which will be externally peer reviewed. Contributions for the personal view column are always welcome and should contain upto 2500 words. Letters to editors should normally be not more than 1500 words, with not more than five references. We also receive book review/article review/electronic media review and conference report within 400-800 words and 1000 words respectively. Justified comments on any published article in JRMC are also acceptable.

Submission of paper: Articles are accepted for publication with an understanding that represents an original contribution not previously published (except in the form of an abstract or preliminary report), not being considered for publication elsewhere and if accepted by the journal it will not be published elsewhere in the same form without the consent of the editors. Authors have to declare originality of their work and transfer of copyright to JRMC authority using prescribed format.

Title page: The title page should include, i) Complete title of the article ii) Name of each author with highest academic qualification and signature iii) Institutional affiliation of each author iv) Name and address of author responsible for correspondence. Involvement of co-author should be relevant with the study and self-explanatory to the work.

Abstract: Each paper requires a structured abstract (includes Context/Background, Materials & Methods, Results, Conclusion and Key words) of not more than 150 words summarizing the significant information and findings. Authors must give from two to four key words that identify the most important subjects covered by the paper. Abbreviations, diagrams and references in the abstract should be avoided.

Text: The body of the text should be divided into the following sections: Introduction, Materials and Methods, Results, Discussion and Conclusion.

Referencing: References should appear at the end of the article in order of the text. All references in the text should be cited. For a review article, appreciable number of references (around 30) should be cited.

Book: Ross MH, Pawlina W. Histology: a text and atlas with correlated cell and molecular biology. 5th ed. Baltimore: Lippincott Williams & Wilkins; 2006 p.706-15.

Chapter: Collins P. Embryology and development. In: Standring S, Ellis H, Heally JC, Johnson D, Williams A, Collins P, et al. eds. Gray's Anatomy. The anatomical basis of clinical practice.39th ed. Edinburgh: Elsevier Churchill Livingstone; 2005. p.1341-8.

Journal Article: All the authors should be listed, if six or less. If there are more than six authors in the article, the name of first six and et al. should be used.
e.g. Overland GB, Vatten L, Rhodes T, DeMuro C, Jacobsen G, Vada k, et al. Lower urinary tract symptoms, prostate volume and uroflow in Norwegian community men. Eur Urol 2001; 39(1)36-41.
Personal Communication: Reference to personal communications should be avoided, but when necessary, should include the person's name, his or her title, and date. Personal Communications should be cited in the text in parentheses but not included in the references list. Example (Mc Guigan MA Editor-in–Chief, Personal communication, October 12, 2004). A letter granting permission to publish the personal communication from the person providing the information must be included at the time of submission of the article for the journal.
Website: Authors' names (in normal order), document title, date of internet publication, or other retrieval information (date of access), text division (if applicable).e.g Gail Mortimer, the William Faulkner Society Home Page, 16 September 1999, (19 November 1997). U.S positions on selected issues at the third negotiating session of the Framework Convention on Tobacco Control. Washington, D.C Committee on Government Reform, 2002. (http://www.house.gov/reform/min/inves tobacco index accord.htm, [accessed on March 4,2002)]
Ethical approval: The authors should mention the name of the ethical approval authority of their study in Materials and Methods section, if the study has been done on human subjects, laboratory samples or laboratory animals. Manuscript based on the study involving human subjects should have been conducted in accordance to the ethical standards laid down in the '1964 Declaration of Helsinki' revised in the year 2000.
Acknowledgement: Acknowledgement, if any, should be placed at the end of the body of the text and be limited to no more than 100 words. This section may be used to acknowledge the help of those who do not qualify for authorship or to acknowledge funding, donated resources, or significant material contributions to the research.
Illustrations: Illustrations submitted (line drawings, photos, photomicrographs etc) should be clean originals or digital files. Digital files are recommended for highest quality reproduction and should follow these guidelines:
- 300 dpi or higher
- sized to fit on journal page
- JPG and GIF formats are preferred
- should be submitted as separate files, not embedded in text files.

Tables and Figures: Tables should be embedded in the text. All figures should be included as one separate sheet or file. A short descriptive title should appear above each table with a clear legend and any footnotes suitably identified below. All units must be included. Figures should be completely labeled, taking into account necessary size reduction. Captions should be typed, double-spaced, on a separate sheet. All original figures should be clearly marked in pencil on the reverse side with the number, author's name and edge indicated.
Footnotes: For uniformity of style, authors should use symbols for footnotes such as*, §†, ‡.
Editorial action: The manuscripts received are examined by the editorial board and are sent to the reviewers. Rejected manuscripts will not be returned. Proofs correction by the authors will be appreciated. No reprint will be provided. The editor reserves the customary right to style and if necessary shortens the material accepted for publication. The editor assumes that the writings are based on honest observations. It is not the task of the editor to investigate scientific fraud paper. The manuscript should be sent to
